Training for Transition 2012

This course is for people looking for sustainable solutions and who recognise the environmental, social and economic benefits that occur when communities work together to reach common goals.

On completing the course participants will:

- have a clear understanding of the context for transition towns, and the transformational possibilities that arise from the twin challenges of climate change and peak oil
- know what the TT model is – including an in depth look at the key 12 steps, from inspiration, setting up the initiating group, all the way to having active and effective working groups and have experienced a joint visioning process
- understand how to organise effective meetings such as public talks, open space days and small theme working groups
- understand the purpose and principles of an Energy Descent Plan
- have formed useful contacts with other Transition initiatives
- have an initial plan of action for themselves and their locality
